Zhou Changcheng is the Luojia Distinguished Professor and Director of the Center for Quality of Life Studies at Wuhan University.

Surveying the Quality of Life in Wuhan City

This presentation will, first of all, summarise the development and current situation of research on the quality of life in China. It will then introduce a survey on subjective quality of life conducted in Wuhan City. It will consider the theoretical framework and methodology of this research. Finally, it will explore the perspectives of studies on the quality of life in China.
09 February 2017, 4:00pm–5:30pm (Thursday)

SEMINAR ROOM A, CIW BUILDING
Australian Centre on China in the World, Building 188, Fellows Lane, ANU
http://chinainstitute.anu.edu.au/events/

Zhou Changcheng

Surveying the Quality of Life in Wuhan City

This presentation will, first of all, summarise the development and current situation of research on the quality of life in China. It will then introduce a survey on subjective quality of life conducted in Wuhan City. It will consider the theoretical framework and methodology of this research. Finally, it will explore the perspectives of studies on the quality of life in China.

ZHOU CHANGCHENG is the Luojia Distinguished Professor and the Director of the Centre for Quality of Life Studies at Wuhan University. His research interests include economic sociology, social development and quality of life, and the sociology of transitional societies.

The ANU China Seminar Series is the pre-eminent forum for discussion of China and the Sinophone world at the Australian National University, where over fifty senior academics as well as many post-doctoral fellows and graduate students conduct research on the region. Invited speakers come from across the full range of disciplines. They include senior scholars from in and outside the ANU, younger academics, post-doctoral research fellows, and advanced graduate students. The Seminar Series provides an arena in which to examine China in its widest sense, to acquaint people with a range of China-related research that might otherwise lie outside their scope of contact, and to offer a social setting for discussion of matters of mutual interest. It aims at a broad audience: members of academic staff from many fields; undergraduate and graduate students; policy-makers; and interested members of the public. With the consent of speakers, seminars are recorded and made publicly available through the Seminar Series’ website to build an archive of research on the Sinophone world. The seminar runs on alternate Thursdays during the ANU’s teaching terms.

AFTER THE SEMINAR
To allow for informal discussion, the seminar will be followed by a dinner with the guest speaker at 6.15 pm. All are welcome, though those who attend will need to pay for their own food and drinks. As a reservation must be made, please RSVP by noon of the day before the seminar to jasmine.lin@anu.edu.au.

The China Seminar Series is sponsored by the China Institute, the Research School of Asia and the Pacific, and the Australian Centre on China in the World at The Australian National University.

Convenors: Amy King (amy.king@anu.edu.au), Elisa Nesossi (elisa.nesossi@anu.edu.au), and Mark Strange (mark.strange@anu.edu.au).

For further details of the series:
http://chinainstitute.anu.edu.au