SURVIVAL POLITICS
Across Asia and the Pacific the pursuit of rapid economic growth and urbanization has had severe ecological ramifications, resulting in community displacement, food safety concerns, and grave challenges to the survival of individuals and their cultures. How do communities react and organize in the face of complex political, economic and ecological pressures? This season of films explores grassroots responses to socio-environmental crises across Asia and the Pacific.

This monthly film series offers a fresh window on social realities, cultural transformations and creative imaginings from across Asia and the Pacific, through documentary and feature films made by some of the most entertaining, insightful and uncompromising filmmakers in our region. Screenings are followed by a short discussion, led by relevant local and invited scholars and filmmakers.

Sponsored and hosted by the Australian Centre on China in the World, the series is programmed by a team with diverse expertise in visual culture, dramatic arts, independent cinema and popular culture in Asia and the Pacific.
